MISTLETOE PATTERNS

1977 Reissue

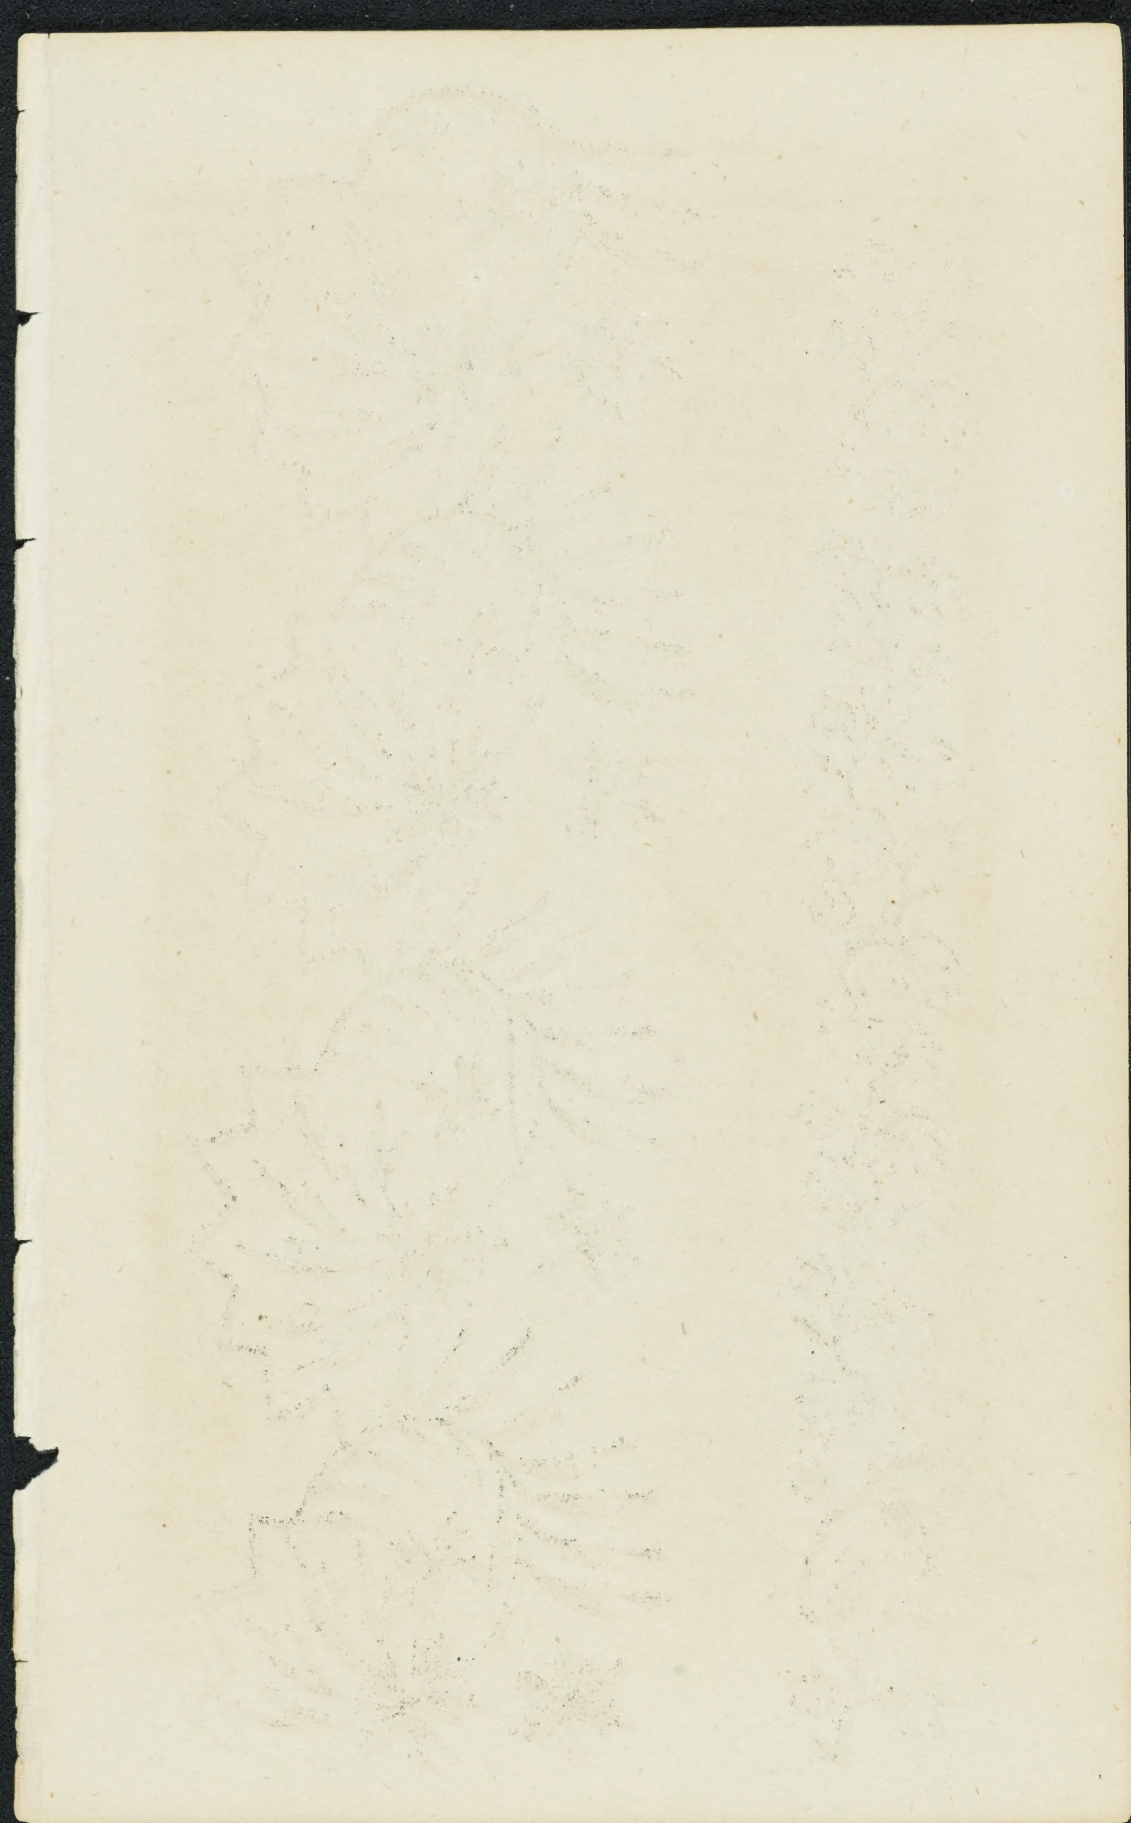

MUSLIN PATTERNS.

No. 1 of the following, Reproduction of the original design.

This is a black and white line drawing of a vertical decorative border. The design is composed of a repeating pattern of stylized foliage. On the left side, there is a jagged, sawtooth-like border that frames the main elements. The main elements consist of clusters of leaves and star-shaped flowers. The leaves are elongated and pointed, with some showing internal veining. The flowers are multi-pointed, resembling stars or stylized snowflakes, and are arranged in small groups. The overall style is reminiscent of traditional woodcut or linocut print design, with clean lines and no shading.
